Grants

Grants are financial aid awards often based on financial need that usually do not have to be repaid unless a student withdraws from school.

- Federal Pell Grant: Awarded to undergraduate students who have not earned a bachelor's or professional degree, Pell Grants are based on financial need, the student's cost of attendance, whether they are attending full- or part-time, and whether the student plans to attend for a full academic year or less. Unlike a loan, the Pell Grant does not have to be paid back. See, <https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/grants-scholarships/pell>.
- Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG): A grant for undergraduate students with exceptional financial need, determined by the FAFSA, and does not need to be repaid. Depends on financial need, other aid received, and funds available for your institution. See, <https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/grants-scholarships/fseog>.
- Teacher Education Assistance for College and Higher Education (TEACH) Grant: Provides grants of up to $4,000 to students who are completing or plan to complete course work for teaching careers in high-need fields and in areas that serve students from low-income families. If requirements are not met, the grant will be converted to a Direct Unsubsidized Loan. See, <https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/grants-scholarships/teach>.

- Iraq and Afghanistan Service Grant: For students are not eligible for a Pell Grant, but whose parent or guardian served as a member of the U.S. armed forces and died as a result of military service performed in Iraq or Afghanistan after September 11, 2001, and you were under 24 years old or enrolled in college at least part-time at the time of your parent's or guardian's death. See, <https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/grants-scholarships/iraq-afghanistan-service>.

Loans

The U.S. Department of Education has two federal student loan programs: the William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan (Direct Loan) Program and Federal Perkins Loan Program See, <https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/loans>.

Work-Study

The Federal Work-Study program provides part-time jobs for undergraduate and graduate students with financial need to help them pay for their educational expenses. Check with your school's financial aid office to find out if your school participates. See, <https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/work-study>.
